The President's Radio Voice

What of U. S. Workmen? Whose Gold Is It?

Millions that heard President Roosevelt talking to the country last week will congratulate him on the possession of a "perfect radio voice," every word distinct, every idea clear, a voice carrying conviction. The radio, putting the President in direct touch with those that elected him, is a President's greatest asset, and defense.

Great Britain "gives approval to the tariff armistice." The assumption is that United States tariffs are to be lowered and everybody made happy "by ending economic warfare among nations."

Ending economic warfare sounds pleasant. But what about the international differences in wages and manufacturing costs and different standards of living?

Tearing down tariff walls to obligate foreign workmen and manufacturers that need our markets, and at the same time "revising the war debts" to obligate nations that borrowed from us, would be pleasant for foreigners, less pleasant for Americans.

This country feels that a good worker is entitled to a decent home, automobile, education for his children, radio, bath tub and reasonable leisure.

He can not have that if he must compete in wages with Asiatics or the Europeans getting twenty-five cents to one dollar a day. Americans should buy from American workers, spend the money in the United States, where they get it. He who advocates bring down the tariff, to put American workers on a par with twenty-five cent workers in Asia, or one dollar workers in Europe, is not a friend of the United States, its prosperity or its working people.

A former United States Senator questions the right of the Government to make Americans give up their gold. His amount of gold, only $120 worth, would not upset any gold basis, but he proposes to test in court the legality of an order that says to Americans:

"Gold is too precious a metal for Americans and they will kindly bring it all in."

No other country has done this and many Americans, having obediently deposited their gold, which was, by the way, their property, ask themselves if it would not have been better to make foreign nations that owe us ten thousand million dollars in gold dollars pay part of that.

At Bakersfield, Calif., Mr. Kingsbury, head of Standard Oil of California, has sent drills into the ground to a depth of 10,440 feet looking for oil. It is the deepest hole ever drilled in the United States.

What lies below the bottom of that hole, say ten, or fifty miles farther down?

What treasures of which we know nothing are hidden away in this round ball to provide for our race, which, according to Professor Jeans, is destined to last on earth one million million years longer?

The earth's heat forty or fifty miles down would furnish power for the whole earth, making oil and water power unnecessary.

John D. Rockefeller Jr. might dig such a power-producing hole, which, through with Rockefeller Center. Engineers say it could be done for thirty or forty million dollars. Uncle Sam himself might try it if it was not wrong. Communistic, Bolshevistic and Socialistic, for a government to do anything for itself.

All automobile news, including increased production, is interesting and encouraging. But the real interest begins when you get a new car and start driving it. Do that if you can: it is a wonderful "depression lifter."

And, by the way, before you are three months older, Henry Ford, the father of "automobiles for everybody," will show you something that the world will talk about. This writer has seen it, but details are still a secret.

Automobile manufacturers are cheerful. The automobile output for April was 62 per cent over March. Walter Chrysler says the best kind of good times are on their way back, and hurrying.

Hitler tells 30,000 followers that Germany lost the war because Germans went on strike. He calls them "the traitors of 1918." He says he now has 600,000 men enrolled in his Nazi troops "as an iron guard of the revolution."

Hitler also says that there are now eight million Germans unemployed. Unless he can change that situation the 5,000,000 idle may be transformed into an "iron guard" for another kind of revolution.

A University Service dispatch from Rome reports "Premier Mussolini is nearing Socialism. He tolerates private business only under favorable circumstances. His government unites more and more on 'big' business, and dominates Italy's major industries." This country, without knowing it, may be headed in the same direction.

Beer Will Be Sold In Carmel Legally

"It's an opening wedge for the saloon," say the dregs. "Having an election was all nonsense," say the wets. But anyway Carmel ceases to be "different" in the matter of the sale of beer within the city's boundaries.

The election Monday resulted in a landslide for the wets with a total of 449 votes out of the 708 cast.

The election failed to get up the enthusiasm usually shown in matters where the two warring factions, the self-styled old-timers and the progressives clash.

The old timers insisted that those who wanted beer should go over the hill for it, while the wets insisted that Carmel merchants might as well have the money used for its purchase, and that those who went to Monterey for beer spent money for other commodities while there.

Anyway, the question is settled and no one can blame the council for the people themselves have spoken.

The city council will meet next Monday night for an official count of the votes and from that date the sale of beer will be legal.

"BROADWAY" TO PORTRAY BEER BARONS OF PAST

By Marion Pinkham
Carmel voted "wet" on the beer question propounded last Monday but will it ever have a cabaret like the "Paradise Night Club" featured at the Carmel Community Playhouse in "Broadway"? The answer is definitely "No," for the beer barons who are portrayed on the stage this week-end belong to a vanished era.

This play is history now. That's one reason why you should be present at one of the four performances, Thursday, Friday, Saturday or Sunday night. Another reason is that it is directed by Frank Sheridan and Kit Cooke—and no one who knows his Carmel needs to be told who they are! A third reason is that it boasts one of the sprightliest, most amusing and most youthful casts ever gathered on the playhouse boards.

Leading parts are taken by Jack Gribner, Robert Parrot, Helen Wilson, By Ford, Lucian Jones, Tiny Pearson and Sam Ethridge. The cabaret girls, led by Ruth Austin, who has originated the dances used, include Patty Johnson, Betty Pinkham, Edwina Pinkham and Ruth Pinkham. Other roles are filled by Millard Pierson, Milton Latham, Holly Smith, Larry Grenier, Frank Murphy and Dave Davis. Tickets are now on sale at Stanford's drug store (Carmel 150) and Carmel Drug store (Carmel 10.)

ERIC TYRRELL-MARTIN

WILL TEACH POLO

Eric Tyrrell-Martin, British polo star, announces that he has taken over the Pebble Beach riding stables, and plans the organization of classes in polo and jumping.

Classes in jumping are being arranged, and a full sized polo field is being marked out near the stables. Instruction will be given free of charge either in classes or individually.

DELEGATES CHOSEN TO ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Mother's Day services at the Carmel Community church were well attended. Rev. T. Harold Grimshaw opened the services with Handel's Largo. After the prayer a requiem was played in honor of the mothers who had passed on. Rev. Mr. Grimshaw's sermon was based on the three great mothers of history, the mother of Christ, the mother of St. Augustine and the mother of Charles Wesley.

During the collection, the Largo from Dvorak's New World Symphony was played.

After the services the business meeting for the closing of the year was held, and Mrs. Everett Smith was chosen delegate to the annual Methodist conference to be held at the College of the Pacific at Stockton in June. Miss Etta Paul was chosen as alternate.

SAN JOSE VIOLINIST TO PLAY IN CONCERT

Marjorie Edwards, child violinist of San Jose will play with the Monterey Peninsula Orchestra when it makes its first public concert rehearsal since the departure of Michel Penha.

Carol Weston, who with Kathleen Parlow trained Marjorie Edwards, will direct the two coming concerts. The orchestra plays Saturday, May 20th at the Denny Watrous gallery, and Sunday at the Salinas Civic club building, in Salinas.

CHILD IS RECOVERING FROM FRACTURED SKULL

Bobby DeAmaral, four year old boy who fractured his skull when he fell from a moving automobile last Saturday, is reported improving.

The child was unconscious for four hours, and finally regained consciousness at the Monterey hospital, where he was taken. Bobby is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeAmaral.

ELIZABETH REAMER ENTERTAINS FRIENDS

Tables Are Turned Chargers Are Charged

A hair-pulling contest, a face punching, and a broken garage door were the evil results of a drunken husband, according to the testimony of Angelina Soto in Judge Wood's court last Saturday.

Angelina, supposedly irate over the siren's attractions of her younger sister, Minnie Marshall, had her nephew, Dave Marques, swear to a charge that he had bought wine from Minnie. Angelina's testimony tended to show that her husband had a habit of getting drunk on Minnie's wine. This, she thought, was all right, until the husband, Frank, broke the garage door, and Minnie refused to pay for the repairs.

In fact, when Angelina picked up a chair, but only to sit on, she swears, Minnie grabbed her by the hair, and she was forced to punch Sister Minnie several times in the face.

Angelina felt that this was going too far, so according to Dave Marques's testimony, she paid him two dollars to swear that Minnie was in the business of selling wine. Dave now retracts his statement, which seems to leave Minnie high and dry.

The case against Minnie has been dismissed, while charges of perjury may be brought against Mrs. Soto and Dave Marques through Deputy District Attorney Thompson.

Abalone League Dance Benefit Huge Success

Over a hundred friends and members of the Abalone league enjoyed the dinner dance given Monday evening at La Playa hotel for the benefit of Bob Stowell, injured player. With Charlie Van Riper as toast master, and assisted by members of the league, the dinner was enlivened by speeches from a dozen or more.

Doctor Gray entertained with a story of the history of baseball, quoting freely from the Bible in support of his contention as to the antiquity of the game. Ad Hanke, Dr. Harry Brownell, Dr. David Matske, Steve Bancroft, Mrs. Fish, Mr. Fish, Ed Files, Ruby Fraley, Sis Reamer, Ban Handley, Doc Staniford, Fred Godwin and Mike Murphy contributed a few words on their activities during the season.

Steve Bancroft, captain of the winning team received the cup, which he is to keep until next year.

Dancing was enjoyed after the dinner, and the crowd was joined by many others. The decision was unanimous that it was a grand party.

DISTINGUISHED TEACHER VISITING IN CARMEL

A distinguished visitor to Carmel this week was Charles Vouga, teacher and lecturer on metaphysical subjects. Mr. Vouga is a native of Switzerland but has been living in this country for five years. He is now living in San Francisco.

On his frequent lecture trips up and down the coast, Mr. Vouga always makes it a point to stop over in Carmel for at least one night. He is most enthusiastic over the city.

Purse Is Returned But Money Is Gone

With the cash gone and jewelry intact, the purse recently stolen from the car of Mrs. Clinton Walker of Piedmont, which was parked in front of the residence of her mother, Mrs. E. G. Brooks, was found in the Brooks yard Monday morning.

Mrs. Brooks hesitated about picking up the parcel, having no idea of its contents, but finally got up enough courage to investigate.

When stolen, the purse contained $100 in cash, and several hundred dollars worth of jewelry, there being a jeweled watch and some other fine pieces.

Mrs. Brooks believes that the publicity given the theft by Carmel Sun was responsible for the return of the purse and valuables. Evidently, the thief feared that an attempt at the disposal of the jewelry would lead to detection, or feared that he might be found with the things in his possession.

The purse was wrapped in plain brown paper, sealed with gummed paper tape. There were no identification marks of any kind on it.

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Black of Berkeley have spent the last two weeks in the Wilson Hut on Casanova.

Dr. Karl Ohnesorg Has Passed Away

Funeral services for Dr. Karl Ohnesorg were held Monday afternoon at two o'clock in the Presidio chapel at San Francisco. Dr. Ohnesorg who passed away at midnight, Wednesday of last week after a six months' illness, was well known on the peninsula. He was a retired naval officer, and had the distinction of having served as personal physician to the late President Theodore Roosevelt.

Dr. Ohnesorg had a brilliant career. He was assistant navy attaché at the American embassy in Berlin at the outbreak of the war, and did outstanding work in caring for the prisoners of war, for which he was decorated by King George.

His death came as a shock to his friends. He leaves a widow, Aileen Ohnesorg, to mourn his demise.

ROASTS AND STEAKS NOT IMPORTANT SAYS JUDGE

R. E. Garrett, deliveryman, was arrested on a charge of reckless driving last week by Traffic Officer Guth. Garrett was charged with passing another car at a high rate of speed. The occupants of the car called Officer Guth's attention to his speed.

Garrett pleaded not guilty, and Judge Wood changed the charge to speeding, letting the offender off with a reprimand. Garrett's defense was that he was forced to make deliveries quickly many times, but Judge Wood told him that roasts and steaks held no precedence over human safety.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY AT CULBERTSON GALLERY

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Community church met at the studio of Miss Josephine Culbertson Wednesday of last week for their regular monthly meeting.

The yearly report of the accomplishments of the society was read by the secretary, showing an active year and much good work done, under the efficient leadership of Miss Agnes Williston. During the year, the society has done Red Cross sewing, and rolled bandages for a leper hospital. The annual rummage sale was highly successful in the early fall netting a large amount for improvements.

All left overs from this sale were sent to the Salvation Army and to the Ladies' Aid Society at Seaside for their welfare work.

Baskets of food and cash gifts were distributed at Christmas time. A new roof has been put on the church building, the materials being paid for by this society; the labor and time being given by T. H. Douglass, Elmer Douglas and Mr. Rapier. A central heating plant was installed in the manse in the early winter at a cost of over two hundred dollars. A three years' insurance policy on the church building, replacing of organ, and a substantial amount toward current expenses have all been met by the women, which is very gratifying.

Informal social teas have been delightful affairs during the year and cash gifts have been received from local and out-of-town visitors.

The total raised amounts to $460 which is the largest sum ever raised by this group during one year. Membership is open to all, without dues, asking only an active interest in the auxiliary work.

A circular letter was sent from this meeting to Mrs. Jessie Askew who is very ill at her daughter's home. The following were elected officers for the new church year: president, Mrs. Mabel Turner; first vice, Miss Williston; second vice, Mrs. Clara Beller; secretary, Mrs. Charlotte Morgan; treasurer, Miss Etta Paul.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the afternoon to the following who were in attendance: Miss Agnes Williston, Miss Etta Paul, Mrs. T. H. Douglass, Miss Frances Farrington, Mrs. Clara Beller, Mrs. Charlotte Morgan, Mrs. T. Harold Grimshaw, Rev. T. Harold Grimshaw, Mrs. Mabel Turner, Mrs. Lillie Hanson, Mrs. Esther Smith, Mrs. Ed Warner, and the hostess, Miss Culbertson.

INTERESTING CARMEL

Interesting things about Carmel

Did you know that the fabrics and dyes produced in the northern provinces of China are far superior to those of the south? They are, according to Hallie Samson in the Der-Ling shop on Dolores street, who has spent many years in the Orient. She lived in Peking when in China and picked up many rare pieces herself. The merchants send native buyers up to the Shanai province, north of Peking, Miss Samson said and these go into homes and factories where it is impossible for a white person to go. The merchants knew Miss Samson, and she often had first pick of rare and beautiful things which no other white person had ever seen.

Miss Samson had many articles made up to order from her own design, and her rugs are true copies of fine old patterns, of the very finest wool obtainable.

One of the loveliest things she found is a dancing girl's coat of the Ching dynasty. It is embroidered in gold leaf with the imperial dragon of five claws, on a beautiful dull green background. The coat was used during the reign of Emperor Ch'ien Lung, who ruled from 1736 to 1796 and who is famed for the encouragement he gave to the arts. During his reign some of the finest porcelains and embroideries were made. This coat was worn over a skirt which was composed of embroidered tabs which swung with the dancer's movements. The sleeves are enormous, and hang to the floor. The dancer's hands never showed, and the graceful drape of the sleeves formed a very important part of the dance.

Miss Samson has a large collection of semi-precious stones and jeweled articles. Her shop is interesting because she is so well informed about her things, and loves them.

CARMEL WOMAN CHATS WITH FIRST LADY

Chance words in a hotel dining room in Washington, D. C., led to a chat with Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt for Mrs. C. F. Grinnell, according to a letter received last week by Mrs. Hopkins of the Jasmine Bush.

Mrs. Grinnell had attended a banquet at the Willard hotel, where Mrs. Roosevelt spoke. After the speech, Mrs. Grinnell mentioned to one of the ladies at her table that she thought Mrs. Roosevelt was so much more attractive than she seemed in her pictures, and seemed such a charming woman. The stranger revealed that she was Mrs. Roosevelt's secretary, and offered to take Mrs. Grinnell's greetings to her personally.

In a few minutes a message came to Mrs. Grinnell that Mrs. Roosevelt would like to speak to her in the ball room. They had a very nice talk and found that Mrs. Roosevelt knew relatives of Mrs. Grinnell who live on the Hudson near the Roosevelt estate. Needless to say, this was the highlight of Mrs. Grinnell's trip East. She left a short time ago on the bus by way of Texas, and through Memphis and Nashville for Boston. She is now at her home at Scituate, Mass.

Ockey, specialist in agricultural extension, University of California, declared recently that successful farmers should do a little bookkeeping that records of their farm operations may be set down and at the end of the year disclose the cost of operation and the revenues derived. Every farmer should keep an itemized record of his farm activities in order to eliminate the non-profitable crops, he asserted.

The 10 per cent reduction, voted by the Assessor's Advisory Board, for this year, are temporary, all valuations being subject to change in 1934. Assessor Hurley called attention to the fact that the action does not mean a 10 per cent reduction in the total tax to be paid in 1933-34, but will reduce the valuation of taxable real estate more than $3,055,000 on the tax rolls for the fiscal year.

After a recent trip through Eastern states George Crawford, manager of the Northern Orange County Citrus Exchange, stated that "none of us are especially happy over our present orange marketing situation, but I am much happier to be connected with the citrus industry in this State than in Florida." Mr. Crawford reported that Florida growers were shipping oranges of all grades with little or no standardization, and that even at present low prices on California navels, this fruit was out-selling Florida oranges 50 cents or more a box in eastern auctions. Paraffin Is Found Good

To Keep Water Lily Awake
The Missouri Botanic Garden Bulletin refers to the fact that the day-blooming water lilies will not keep open at night. Recent experiments at the garden have definitely shown that it is possible to keep the flowers of the day-blooming water lilies open continuously for several days by treatment with paraffin. With the aid of a medicine dropper melted paraffin is carefully applied in small quantities to the extreme lower portions of the stamens, the petals, and the sepals. It is highly important to use a paraffin with a low melting point, 47 degrees C. or less, in order to prevent injury to the floral tissues. Rapid cooling of the paraffin after contact with the flower is essential. The melted paraffin is uniformly dispensed among the bases of the stamens, petals and sepals, forming a cast which holds the floral parts rigidly in place, thus preventing the normal closing of the flower. When the operation is carefully done the paraffin is hardly visible even at close range, and the flower appears perfectly natural. If necessary, the paraffin may be tinted with dyes to match the colors of the flowers.—Rural New Yorker Magazine.

Bird Plows Up Food as It Skims Water's Surface

The skimmer, a peculiar bird which plows up its food from the surface of the water, is found only in three continents, and in each of these continents there is a particular type only to be found. In America the skimmers are sometimes called sheerwaters, scissor-bills and razor-bills. The unusual feature of the bird is its long bill, the under part of which is twice as long as the upper. The birds possess long, strong wings which send them skimming along the surface of the water at great speed. Usually, when out foraging for food, a flock of skimmers hunt together. They travel along through schools of fish at the surface of the water with the under part of the bill held slightly below water. This diving action throws the small fish into the mouths of the skimmers, where they are held by the upper part of the bill.—Washington Star.

Travelers' Checks

Travelers' checks are miniature letters of credit. They are issued in amounts from $10 to $200. At almost any bank either bankers' travelers' checks or express travelers' checks can be bought. The former are issued in dollars only, and the latter in either sterling, francs, or dollars. Each check is made out for a definite amount. The buyer's signature is made when the checks are bought, and the same signature is necessary when they are spent. Travelers' checks are accepted the world over, in payment for accommodations or merchandise, and are cashable at banks.

Chicory Root Needed

Chicory root, grown in this country as a substitute for coffee, may prove to have a far greater value in the future and a value which will dwarf its present limited use for beverage purposes, says the Washington Star. Insulin, thought to be the most suitable carbohydrate for those suffering with diabetes, is the principal constituent of chicory root, and through a method devised by the Department of Agriculture, the insulin can be extracted at low cost. The future use of chicory root may become decidedly an important factor in the treatment of this dreaded disease.

Diet for Cats

The best diet for cats is composed largely of meat, for which their teeth are adapted. Cats, being members of the carnivoran order, will not remain healthy very long without it. Fish and chicken delight their hearts and brighten their eyes and days. The diet must be varied. Not fish for days and then meat for days, but a change almost every day, as with humans. Some cats are fond of bread and milk or cereals mixed with a meat broth, although some cats have never been known to touch either.

General Upside-downs on Stamp

During the siege of Mafeking in 1900, a three-penny blue postage stamp was used to prepay letters passing from one dugout to another. Colonel Greener, the artist who designed the stamp, used a portrait of Sir Robert Baden-Powell, who was in command at Mafeking. The stamps were produced photographically, and by a curious error, at least a dozen showed Sir Robert standing on his head. Naturally, these stamps have become very rare.

Earthworms Hard Workers

Keep Soil Loose, Porous
The lowly earthworm is one of the most active forms of life living within the ground and upon the surface, and its activities are a tremendous benefit to the soil which it inhabits. It is estimated that during the course of a year in an acre of ground normally supplied with worms, as much as 15 tons of soil in that acre pass through the bodies of the worms during the course of their feeding. The habit of the worms in feeding process is beneficial in that it keeps the ground loose and porous and at the same time takes decaying animal and vegetable matter from the surface of the ground down into the lower parts of the top soil where the roots of plants come in contact with it to their benefit. The extent of the activity of worms in this burying process is great. Scientists who have studied the life of the earthworm believe that vegetable and animal matter discarded on the surface of the ground is buried as deep as two inches in the course of ten years through the activity of worms.—Boston Herald.

Emblem on American Dime

Handed Down by Aesop
The idea for the emblem that appears on the American dime originally belonged to Aesop, who wrote his fables in the sixth century B. C. The device means "In union there is strength," which is the motto brought out by Aesop. The ancient Romans used the emblem, with seven sticks, as a badge of authority for the Dictators.

The emblem was adopted by the United States, with 13 sticks, representing the colonies, to show that all had been strengthened by uniting; and at that time the motto, "E pluribus unum," meaning "one from many," was also adopted. Both the emblem and the motto have been official since the birth of the United States.

Mussolini adopted the idea from the original source for the same purpose of showing that in unity there is strength.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Imagining More Trouble

"I understand that the Eskimos are purchasing radio sets," said the conversation maker. "I have heard so," answered the eminent explorer. "It should make those long nights cheerful, although I hope the music won't make them frivolous." "Not much danger," "You don't know how you relieve my mind. It would be distressing to think of their opening clubs to run a night six months long."

Hawks and Owls Slay Mice

If you do not think that hawks and owls do a valuable service to man in the destruction of large numbers of meadow mice each year, the following computation worked out for the Book of Popular Science on the rate of increase of these small rodent pests may be of interest to you. "Meadow mice have from five to ten young at a litter. If all the young mice should live, it would take less than five years for the offspring from each pair to number over three million."

Kabbeljaws

The Kabbeljaws (in Dutch Kabbeljaws or Kabbelwrechen) were opposed to the Hooks (Hoeks). Motley holds that the Kabbeljaws were fundamentally the party of the cities against the nobles, but most other historians believe that the Kabbeljaws were originally the party of the nobility. At any rate, the origins of the two parties were eventually indistinct and unimportant; there were cities on either side and nobles on both sides. Kabbeljaw means "codfish."

Famous Men Born in January

Some famous men born in January include Millard Fillmore, thirteenth President of the United States; John Hancock, Revolutionary patriot; Benjamin Franklin, statesman; Daniel Webster, statesman; Edgar Allan Poe, poet; David Starr Jordan, educator; John Fitch, steamboat inventor; Thomas J. (Stonewall) Jackson, Confederate general; and William McKinley, twenty-fifth President of the United States.

Pig Iron

Pig iron is manufactured from iron ore, and is so called because in the older plants the metal as it comes from the blast furnaces flows through a trench into little branch trenches or molds, where it hardens into bars called pigs. Pig iron is sometimes called the raw material of the iron and steel industry, because from it most of our steel and commercial forms of iron are made.

Sea Cows

The manatee, or sea cow, is a large, rubbery animal that lives in the water and has flippers instead of legs, like the walrus and the whale. It is valuable both for its flesh and its oil and might also be a source of leather. These creatures feed largely on the manatee grass which abounds in the warm streams around the coasts of Florida.

Pure English Is Demanded

of All Players in Movies
No matter how charming they may sound, southern accents—and in fact, accents of any kind—are listened to with a jaundiced ear at the movie studios, according to a director of a voice and dramatic school. "Many are affected by the ban on accents, for all must submit to having the 'r's,' 'g's' and other inflections of 'pure English' reinserted into their vocabularies. In explaining the decree, the director said: "Unless players can enunciate pure English they are limited as to the parts they can play, their work and that of the studio which employs them being hindered thereby. "Southerners—and for that matter, Yankoes and westerners—must have all traces of provincialism removed from their speech before they can become truly valuable players. "Personally, I like the southern accent, but my duty is to see that players under contract can enact any type of role on a moment's notice."

London's "Big Ben" Clock

Is Not Largest in World
"Big Ben" is the great bell of the clock tower on the Parliament house in London. It was named after Sir Benjamin Hall, who was first commissioner of works at the time of its erection. The bell was cast in the Whitechapel bell foundry in 1858, and weighs 13 1/4 tons. The pendulum weighs 700 pounds. The clock has four dials, each 22 1/2 feet in diameter. The figures are two feet high and the minute hand fourteen feet long. This clock, however, is not the largest in the world. The largest is said to be one located on the Colgate building in Jersey City, N. J., at the point where the Hudson river empties into New York bay. The minute hand of this clock is 38 feet long and its hour hand 27 feet. The dial is 60 feet wide. A quarter-horse power motor is required to wind the giant clock.

Pilots Are Champions In Final Game Sunday

By Doc Staniford

It's a good thing I don't depend for my living on the writing of this article, because after attending the dinner dance given by the Abalone League last night, I find it pretty hard to concentrate on a ball game.

Oh yes—the ball game—well, the Pilots won the championship from the Country club, final score 10 to 9, and are now the proud owners of the Stove Lid trophy—known as the Abalone League cup.

The game itself was exciting enough, but a ragged affair as baseball goes, with wild throws by the Country Club. These proved to be the cause of their downfall, for after getting a big lead, and making it look like curtains for the Pilots, the Country Club for some strange reason decided not to wait for the 4th of July but blew up with a loud bang in the 8th inning.

When the smoke cleared away the Pilots had scored five runs, which was enough to win the game.

Freddy Godwin pitched great ball for the Country Club—here's to you, Fred, while your team didn't win the cup, you won a thousand cups as far as the umpires were concerned. You had two tough breaks by decisions against your team, but you were man enough to give the umpires a kind word, and believe me, that helps a lot for us fellows.

Ed Files pitched a good heady game and was cool and steady when the going was rough. The Pilots deserve a lot of credit for their great fight, and won the game by overcoming the big lead the Country Club had in the final stages of the game.

Umpires: Staniford, Dr. Gray and Tal Josselyn. Scorer: Mrs. H. Tiedemann. Pilots champs. Final score, Pilots 10, Country Club 9.

Garden Fete Saturday Was Huge Success

By AGNES FORD

The Garden Fete held last Saturday in the garden of Mrs. I. N. Ford, under the auspices of the Garden Section of the Woman's club proved a great success, and to date the proceeds have totaled $145.50, all of which will be given to the Unemployment Fund of Carmel. The weather, which had been a great source of anxiety all the week, proved warmer than expected, and Old Sol, himself, came from behind his clouds to view the dancing.

People began arriving at noon, carrying lunch boxes, and finding seats at the eleven tables arranged in groups throughout the garden and in the open spaces in Junipero street. Hot coffee and chocolate were served free to all, the Girl Scouts acting as most efficient waitresses. It is estimated that about two hundred people attended the party.

In the open woody spaces outside the garden in Junipero street the booths had been erected, and here, also, the dancing was held under the oaks. Benches and tables were placed in groups for luncheon, fifty chairs being kindly lent by Sunset school.

The Plant booth, under the direction of Miss Anne Grant, did a lively business in selling plants and cut flowers, a wide choice being available owing to the kindness of the many donations sent in.

The home-made candy booth, presided over by Mrs. J. L. Cockburn, and the home-made cake booth under the direction of Mrs. C. J. Ryland, sold every bit of cake and candy sent in. A. W. Wheldon had charge of the coffee making, and Miss Glenna Peck made the hot chocolate.

The little French bouquets made by Mrs. A. W. Wheldon proved a great success, fifty of them being passed for sale by the Girl Scouts and all selling.

The booths were decorated by Mrs. Hugh Comstock and Mrs. John Neikirk.

The program was under the direction of Mrs. H. S. Nye, and the dancing proved the loveliest feature of the party, the natural setting under the oaks making an ideal spot for the children to perform. It was as if a little band of fairies had suddenly appeared to charm our eyes, dancing in and out of the trees, their short tunic costumes of gauze fluttering in the breeze.

The first children to dance were the pupils of Miss Ruth Austin who did interpretive dancing the eight little girls making a lovely picture in their peach-color tunics, the leader having a long green scarf, which made a most effective note of color. These children included: Roe Marie Mattimore, Babette de Mo, Natalie Hatton, Helen Burnett, Jean Weil, Gail Johnson, Jacqueline Hodges, and Ruth Borrowa.

The second group to dance were the pupils of Miss Elsa Naess, who gave several numbers of a ballet, a Greek dance, and some solos, with several changes of costume. Special mention should be made of little Mingdon Sheets, who led the dances. The girls included: Evelyn Cockburn, Mingdon Sheets, Mary Jane Dawson, Dorothea Dawson, Jane Glasscock, Joyce Whitcomb, Mary Jane Reade, Audrey Freitas, Cynthia Klein, and Master Richard Schumaker. Our best congratulations to both these talented groups of children.

The gate money was taken in by Miss Agnes Williston, Miss Elizabeth Armstrong, Miss Elizabeth Mascord, and Miss Geneva Pierce, the Bank of Carmel kindly making it possible to deposit the total receipts late in the afternoon.

The booths were put up by Boy Scouts, who did all of the work themselves. These boys also helped to act as traffic officers to direct the cars in parking. These boys were Bob Rand, Robert Bell, Albert Pettie, and Earl Dorance, and proved themselves good scouts indeed.

The Girl Scouts who proved so useful were Martha Millis, Jane Millis, Carol Curd, Marguerita Anderson, and Nancy Morrison. Our best thanks to these two Scout organizations.

The Committee would like through this medium to express their best thanks to the following: The H. A. Hyde company of Watsonville, for 50 choice tuberous begonia bulbs; Plantamith, of Salinas, for plants; and J. A. Burge, of Carmel, for plants. These three nurseries sent us donations of plants without any solicitation.

Donations of cake, candy, and plants were so numerous that it is impossible to thank individually all the kind friends who so gener-

BOY SCOUT COMMITTEE

ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The Boy Scout committee, which was recently reorganized, has elected Herman Crossman chairman; Hurd Comstock, treasurer, and John Neikirk, scout master, secretary.

The committee, besides the foregoing officers, includes Louis Levinson, Everett Smith and Otto Barderson. Plans for the summer are being made at present. Next Saturday the Scout troop is going into the hills to find a place for their summer camp, which is to be as far removed from civilization as possible.

Friday, May 19, at 7:30, Father and Son's night will be celebrated at the Scout house. The troops are preparing a demonstration for the evening, after which light refreshments will be served.

The Scouts have been active lately in assisting with work undertaken for the benefit of the unemployed. Last Saturday, the boys erected the booths used in the Garden Fete, and performed the policing and traffic duties connected with the large crowd.

They also assisted at the hunter trials which were held at Del Monte.

The Boy Scout group is strong now, and is growing rapidly. They are planning a real program for the summer, and will choose a cub master soon for the troop between the ages of eight and eleven.

ART WORK EXHIBIT

Art work produced by the students of the Douglas school is on exhibition this week at the Deney-Watrous gallery. The exhibition comprises studies in still life, water color and pastels.

Some sketches are of horses and the work shows great promise. Mrs. Tutill, the teacher, has permitted each student his choice of medium and design, and the work covers a large field.

ARTHUR WEBB VISITS

HIS CARMEL FRIENDS

Arthur Webb, who recently left Carmel for Coalinga to take charge of a bank in that city, spent the week end at his Carmel home. Mr. Webb was delighted that an oil well, 11,000 feet deep, said to be the deepest in the world, had recently been brought in on land two miles from property owned by him.

ously donated. We would like to mention especially the Pebble Beach gardens that sent donations: Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Ingalls, Mrs. M. E. Newcomb, and Mr. Holtsheuer, head gardener of the Dan Murphy place, sending a fine donation of cut flowers and plants.

Our thanks, also, to the M. J. Murphy company, who loaned lumber for the benches, and last, but not least, our appreciation to the local press, who have given us such fine publicity.

One last word to the effect that the plants left over from the plant booth are still on sale at Mrs. Ford's garden at Eleventh and Junipero street and those who were not able to attend the Garden party might find something useful for their gardens.

Rickshaw Coolie Can Run

Four to Six Miles an Hour

It is not hard to push a rickshaw, according to a director of the Physiological Institute of the Sun Yat Sen university in Canton, China, who made some interesting observations on the rate of work performed by a coolie drawing a rickshaw. This form of running is peculiar in that the force exerted is practically all forward.

The arms are held by the shafts of the vehicle, and since the vehicle's center of gravity is over the axle, the coolie does not have to exert any upward force. The work he does is consequently the same as if he were pulling a weight by a cord running over a pulley.

The rickshaw coolie runs from four to six miles an hour, consuming during fast locomotion about one-tenth of a horse-power—the same, that is, as if he were drawing five and a half pounds one foot in each second. This is over and above the amount of work the coolie would do while running at the same pace without pulling the loaded vehicle. The expenditure of energy is much less than that of oarsmen in a university boat race.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

April Fool's Day Origin

Still Matter of Doubt

Various theories have been held as to the origin of the customs and traditions attending April 1 in western countries, but there is no certain or conclusive explanation.

Some have tried to trace the observance to the miracle plays formerly presented at Easter time, and some to ancient pagan festivals such as the similar Holi festival held by the Hindus on March 31 or the Feast of Fools celebrated by the Romans.

Brewer's Dictionary of Phrases and Fables declares: "A better solution is this: As March 23 used to be New Year's day, April 1 was its octave, when its festivities culminated and ended."

It may be, he adds, "a relic of the Roman Cerealia," held at the beginning of April. The probability seems to be that it is a survival of some such ancient spring festival.

"Conscience Fund"

There are anonymous persons who feel that they owe the government money for one reason or another. From time to time the Treasury department receives contributions from these unknown persons. Such sums are turned over to what is known as the "conscience fund."

This fund was started during Madison's administration in 1811. With the exceptions of the Monroe administration and the depression of 1848 there has not been a year that some conscience contribution has not been received. From its $1 start in 1811 this fund totals more than $500,000.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Walk From U. S. to Africa

A man can walk from any point in the United States to almost any point of Africa. Starting in New York, he could walk westward across the continent to Canada, thence to Alaska and off its western coast where, at the right time of year, bearing strait freeways over, allowing foot passage into Asia. Once in Asia he could walk south and west into Asia Minor and over the Syrian desert and up to the Suez canal where, crossing on one of its locks, he would be free to wander in Africa wherever he might choose.—Philadelphia Record.

Old Lead Kills Ducks

Unbelievable as it may seem, the Biological Survey has found that ducks by the thousands in the Louisiana marshes die annually through lead poisoning incurred when the ducks, feeding beneath the waters of the lakes and other bodies of water they inhabit, pick up spent shot along with the gravel they consume, and this lead brings about the poisoning, resulting in their death. So numerous have been the hunters and no many the shots fired, the spent lead has reached considerable proportions on the bottoms of the favorite hunting waters.

Raccoon Common Animal

The raccoon is common in many sections of the country and in season provides some excellent sport for hunters and their dogs. In general, the raccoon or "coon" is of a dull, brownish gray, becoming yellow lower on the back, strongly yellow on the nape and tail, and pale gray on the belly and feet. On the cheek is a black patch that extends across the animal's face, giving the impression of a mask. Average weight of these animals is approximately 18 pounds although many have been captured weighing 30 or more pounds.

First Watches

The early history of watches is uncertain. Small timepieces for carrying in the pocket were not made until after the invention of the mainspring in clocks. It is supposed that watches were first made at Nuremberg, Germany, about the beginning of the sixteenth century. They were called "Nuremberg Eggs" and were about the shape of an egg.

Taxed for Cussing; Money

Is Used to Build Church

La Guayra, Venezuela, little known to ships only a few years ago, has become exceedingly popular of late. Caracas, the capital of Venezuela, is reached by an ascent up a magnificent highway. It is only seven miles by air from La Guayra, but 23 over the tortuous road which winds upward through some of the most striking scenery in northern South America. La Guayra is interesting for its "Inglés de la Santísima Carramba"—the Church of the Most Holy Damn. This edifice was built with the proceeds of fines paid to a priest by those of his parishioners who were accomplished in profanity and were taxed for each cuss words they used.

Cartagena, Colombia, is one of the oldest cities of the Spanish Main. Founded in 1533, it still contains much that is picturesque, mosque-like domes and Moorish towers, fortifications everywhere. Walls enclose the city, often with ramparts 30 feet high and from 40 to 100 feet wide, built to resist the pirates. Francis Drake and Morgan were among those who laid siege to the city.

Doubtless many who look at mapped globes are puzzled at the diagram resembling the figure "8" extending from the Tropic of Cancer down to the Tropic of Capricorn. This figure is known as the "analemma" and is used to determine the place where the sun's rays fall vertically on the earth any time of the year. As the sun never is overhead except in the tropics, the analemma extends only within that belt. The diagram also is used to find the difference between the sun or solar time and local or clock time, termed the "equation of time."

Islandmages

Islandmages is a peninsula rather than an island, nor far from Larnie in Ulster, Ireland, and was anciently the home of the Mages, and on it are curious stone remains of prehistoric times. The Gobbins are both cliffs of the eastern shore, which in recent years have been opened to the public, as before they could only be seen from the sea. Their vast precipices hold the secret of many a legend, and men have been hurled from the top of them. They are penetrated by many caves, and rocks provide homes for large flocks of seabirds.

Depth of Great Lakes

Lake Superior is the deepest of the lakes, most of it being more than 600 feet, while Lake Erie's maximum depth is 210 feet. The greatest depth of Lake Superior is 1,300 feet, about twenty miles off Otter Head, Ontario. Lake Erie's maximum depth is found in a five-mile area near Long Point, Ontario. Its average depth is about 60 feet. The deepest soundings in feet of the other Great Lakes are: Michigan, 932; Huron, 750; Ontario, 738.

Keys to the City

The custom goes back to the days when towns had walls and gates, and, often, real keys. The presentation of the keys was a token of submission or allegiance which a feudal town paid its king or overlord when he visited it. The present bestowal of keys on distinguished visitors is simply a sentimental survival of the old practice.

Krait, Snake, Kills Many

The krait is said to cause more deaths than any other snake in India, where mortality from snake bites is high. This is largely due to the fact that this snake is frequently encountered in camps and village houses which it has entered in search of rats, lizards and other snakes, and its venom is astonishingly rapid in its effect.

DR. JOHN R. GRAY WAS

SPEAKER AT P. T. A.

Dr. Gray was principal speaker at the last Parent-Teacher meeting of the year, held Wednesday of last week. His talk was directed especially to mothers who have children just entering school, and he spoke of the physical examinations which he and Dr. Levick were to give Tuesday.

Mothers are inclined to worry too much over the health of their children, according to Dr. Gray, and we should remember that most babies are born healthy, and that if they receive proper attention and balanced food, there is nothing to worry about.

All children are different, of course, and what is right for one is not always right for another, said Dr. Gray, who assured the mothers that he did not intend looking for flaws in the condition of the children but would test their general physical condition.

The mothers were told of the measurements and weights of the children. The talk was enjoyed immensely, and the mothers present were pleased indeed with the fine tribute which Dr. Gray paid to motherhood.
